STRATEGIC PLAN 2017–2022

Approved by IOHE's General Assembly on November 25, 2016

IOHE'S INSPIRATION

"I aspire to establish an Inter-American chain of universities which transcends all political, geographical, economic, ideological, or social boundaries and jointly works to improve and strengthen each of its linkages.

"I had observed a lack of knowledge and a deplorable lack of collaborative linkages between universities in South and North America. There existed great potential for exchange between the institutions that belonged to the same continent. What's more, there were not any organizations that managed these institutions as a collective group. I therefore believed that the solution could lie in the creation of such an institution.

"The action of the organism rests upon the vision of the true role of the university, which is, in fact, a social role. There exists in each community, in each nation and in each country, an indispensable engine for social improvement, and this engine is the university. Furthermore, the university functions as a service to the community, and owes, by virtue of this fact, its existence to the public. Thanks to its activities geared towards the higher education institutions, the IOHE contributes to leading its people towards political, social and economic freedom."

Gilles Boulet – IOHE's OPENING CONGRESS 1980
